Bülent Pişkin

After a long and meticulous preparation period, Acta Stomatologica Cappadocia has finally started its publication life as of today.

Under the auspices of Cappadocia University, the journal aims to publish high-quality research studies from all fields of dentistry, and with its open access policy, to increase and contribute to the evidence-based knowledge.

We are confident that with its well-regarded editorial board, endowed reviewers, and with the strong support of esteemed researchers and readership, the journal will make important progresses towards becoming a highly reputed periodical in the field.

We wish to share together the excitement of our journey to the new horizons of contemporary dentistry.

Sincerely.
